  - a. President- I have two appointments: Chelsea for webmaster question
Megg: What do you know about computes and websites?
Chelsea: I've created a lot of websites that are fully functioning. I've also worked on the Business Club's website.
Conner: What type of poisonous snake would you be?
Chelsea: I don't know any snakes.
Ethan: If this was an acid trip would Conner's question make sense?
Chelsea: Maybe.
Motion for approval 1st Nate 2nd Carmen
Voting: y-27 n-0 a-0
I've selected the Housing Chair to be Alex Williams
Gary came to talk to us about last week's business (camera, parking topic)
Ed: The issue I have is visitors are being ticketed in the visitors' parking lot from the ARB to Hayfield. Who is considered a visitor?
Gary: When students stop taking off their parking passes and pretending to be a visitor we won't ticket the visitors' lot. When we ticket a visitor they just have to bring the ticket up or call us and explain they are a visitor and we apologize. We haven't ticketed that many visitors in the past two years.
Megg: Can't you just look at the license plate?
Gary: That will take too long.
Megg: What if I took off my parking pass off when I parked there how will you know I'm a student if you don't run the license?
Gary: At the end of the year we run them through Harrisburg and then we find out if you're a student here or not. If you are you must pay the ticket.
Dalton: What if you're there for only a few seconds?
Gary: A student is a student. After 5pm you can park in the visitors' lot.
Hannah: A lot of visitors come for tours and can't find the visitors lot is there only one sign?

Gary: There are three signs that states visitors' parking lot and admissions should highlight a map to show them where the parking lot is, but I will check to make sure all three are still up.

Zach: Have we ever thought about open parking?

Gary: It would be a circus. Parking is on a first come first serve bases.

Megg: People who are community members that use the gym, can they park in the visitors' lot?

Gary: Yes

CAMERA TOPIC

Megg: I think we should put cameras in the parking lots for when cars hit other cars and to be able to see when teenagers drink alcohol in the parking lot.

Gary: Penn State University has started a 3 phase project. Phase 1 is adding cameras to all athletic buildings and that's almost completed here. Phase 2 is to add cameras to high risk areas like science buildings and admission offices. Phase 3 is the parking lots. The camera issue with cameras in the parking lot is that the cameras don't cover every single inch. They only take pictures at what they are aimed at and to put cameras up to cover the whole parking lot would cost too much. Also they aren't the answer to everything. Phase 3 with the cameras in the parking lot probably won't happen for another couple of years.

Megg: For the gym, now that we need to swipe our cards what will happen when people are in there for an SAT prep class and don't have a card, but need to use the bathrooms?

Gary: There will be a card given to the teacher of the class so they can give it to the students to use it to get to the bathrooms.

Ed: Does card swipe mean we don't have to sign in anymore? When will this happen?

Gary: Yes, you don't have to sign in anymore and we're hoping to have the swipe card up by January for the spring semester and everyone's card is being put into the system so everyone card can be used to get them in.

Cathy: The past topic about armed security guards.

Gary: University Park has decided to have armed police officers that will be station here but will also cover Worthington. They will be mostly here though because Worthington has two full time officers now. They want this to happen for spring semester and University Park is completely funding this project. Also the police officers will be under the power of University Park and will have to follow their rules. The good thing about this is if we have a big event and don't have enough officers we can call down to University Park and they will send however many more we need. I use to be police officer and it takes a special type of person to be a campus police officer because they have to be able to help students along with enforcing the rules on campus.
